

BOOTH BROTHERS TO MEET TO-MORROW

Would Have Had Reunion Earlier, but Letter Sent Was Not Received.

WELCOME TO BRAMWELL

Honors Extended by Mayor Kline in Presence of 2,500 Army Members.

It was officially announced last evening at the headquarters of the Volunteers of America, 34 West Thirty-eighth street, that Gen. Ballington Booth, commander-in-chief of the Volunteers, and his brother, Gen. Bramwell Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, will have their long deferred reunion to-morrow.

It is likely that the brothers would have clasped hands before but for a letter that went astray. It was said at Salvation Army headquarters, 129 West Fourth-street, that this letter was sent by Gen. Bramwell to Gen. Ballington a week ago, but Gen. Ballington had failed to answer it, and consequently it was not known whether there would be a meeting.

Gen. Ballington Booth's secretary explained that the letter was addressed to the general's home at Montclair, but the Volunteers' command had not been there since its arrival and it was forwarded to him. He, however, had not received it, and it was suggested that it might have been lost in transit.

The secretary said that the meeting of the brothers will be strictly private.

Welcome at the City Hall.

Patron Knickerbocker took off his hat to the Salvation Army yesterday and cordially welcomed the commander-in-chief of the great organization at a reception at the City Hall.

Each division had a band of its own, and the marchers, in regulation uniforms with red bands on their hats, made a striking spectacle as they carried small American flags and kept up the strains of "Forward, Christian Soldiers."

Gen. Booth got out of the line at the end of the parade and reviewed the parade, after which he and his sister, Miss Eva Booth, head of the army in this country, entered the City Hall, where they were warmly greeted by Mayor Kline in the Mayor's reception room.

There was much enthusiasm a few minutes later when the three appeared on the steps of the City Hall, the Salvation Army lads and lassies vying with the rest of the crowd to cheer the leaders.

Mayor Kline, addressing Gen. Booth, who arrived in this city on Thursday after a trip to Canada and the middle West, gave him a most cordial welcome, "as the head of that great organization which has founded and built up by your distinguished father," he thanked Gen. Booth on behalf of the people of New York for the great work the army has done for the benefit of those who have met with adversity and misfortune.

Replying, Gen. Booth said that although he was a stranger to the United States the Mayor had been kind and generous and so hearty in his greeting that he felt very much at home.

"In giving me this splendid reception," he said, "you have conferred an honor upon me which will be deeply appreciated by every Salvation Army adherent in the world. I take it not as a personal tribute, but as a tribute to the Salvation Army and the things for which it stands."

The parade to the City Hall started from Hudson and Reade streets, near the Chambers street elevated station.

3,304 OHIO SALOONS MUST CLOSE.

New Law Goes Into Effect, but Keepers Will Defy It.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 22.—Ohio tonight saw 3,304 of its saloons go out of business. If the saloonists thus affected under Ohio's new liquor license law limiting the number of saloons to one for every 300 of population open their doors Monday they face prosecution and heavy fines. Many of them, however, tonight expressed their intention to submit to arrest and fight the new law. They challenge its constitutionality.

The contest undoubtedly will be carried to the Supreme Court of the United States. Ohio's courts have, however, will be hardened for months with liquor license cases.

Four hundred saloon men in Cincinnati have formed an association to fight the new law. All will submit to arrest Monday. A legal campaign has been mapped out and bail will be provided for those members sent to jail for their offense. Similar situations exist in Toledo, Cleveland, Columbus and other cities.

Several State courts already have passed on the law, holding it constitutional. Attorney-General Hogan said would be brought into play if the individual communities refused to act.

MAJOR SMITH SERIOUSLY ILL.

Secretary of the Park Board Absent From Duties Six Months.

Major Clinton H. Smith, secretary of the Park Board, has been absent from his desk in the arsenal in Central Park for six months because of illness. It was reported yesterday that his condition had reached a stage that caused alarm to his family.

What was said to be a carbuncle appeared on the back of his neck several years ago. Two operations for its removal were undertaken, but he got no better.

He was assistant secretary of the Park Board at the time of the Spanish-American war and went to the front as lieutenant-colonel of the Seventy-first Regiment. On May 1, 1899, Theodore Roosevelt, then Governor, ordered him before a board of examiners who recommended his dismissal and the removal of his name from the roll of the Seventy-first Regiment, but the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court reinstated him.

Park Commissioner Henry Smith dismissed him toward the close of the McChellan administration. Mayor Gaynor directed Commissioner Stover to reinstate him and this was done.

SHIPPING TO AID GAYNOR FUND.

December 10 to Be Maritime Day—Suggestion for Memorial.

December 10 will be a Maritime Day, on which the percentage of the receipts of boats in New York harbor will be contributed toward the Mayor Gaynor Memorial Fund, Commodore Fred B. Damrell will be in charge.

The first suggestion as to what form the memorial shall take is a pavilion in Union Square, to be open on all sides and to have an effect of exceptional architectural beauty for audiences that gather there for discussion of public topics.

James Speyer, treasurer of the fund, has received $4,106.20 to date.

NO RUSH FOR OPERA TICKETS.

Subscribers Call for Only Half of Those Previously Paid For.

About one-half of the $55,000 worth of Metropolitan Opera season tickets which were turned over on Friday by the Metropolitan Trust Company to Tyson & Co., ticket agents, were called for yesterday by the subscribers who paid for them several weeks ago. The other tickets remained on the shelves of the ticket agency waiting for the subscribers to call. There was, however, no great rush, as the subscribers now are convinced that the tickets can be had in time for any performance.

Frank D. Pavey, lawyer, of 32 Nassau street, said he had not received his ticket, but he had no time to go to the office to attend the Thursday evening performance.

It was regarded as likely yesterday that the proceedings before Magistrate Deuel, which have been adjourned until to-morrow, will end without further trouble. Mr. Pavey said he would be ready to argue for the dismissal of the proceedings against Tyson & Co. Bertram Cruger, treasurer of the Metropolitan Trust Company, spent the greater part of yesterday afternoon in the office of Tyson & Co. He was thought to be looking after the interests of the trust company, which made an arrangement with the ticket agency on Friday by which the tickets were released. The trust company would not discuss the nature of the arrangement.

MORMON PLURAL WIFE

FIRST WOMAN SENATOR

Mrs. Robinson, Lawmaker, Tells of Predecessor—Has Low Opinion of Men.

State Senator Helen Ring Robinson of Colorado has discovered that she is not the "only woman Senator."

"The first woman elected Utah many years ago," she told her audience in the Hudson Theatre yesterday morning, Martha Cannon was a plural wife and when Utah became a State she was put in with other plural wives. But she did not stay put. She ran for the Senate against her late husband, and beat him two to one.

"She probably made a better Senator than I have made," she said. "I have been far too hysterical and emotional to deal with politics, as a few months in any Senate would convince any woman. I have already found half a dozen women in the Senate of New York State who would make better Senators than any man I ever saw."

"They will be elected, too, as soon as the men realize what a help they will be in the sphere of politics."

"We don't call voting a sphere in Colorado any more, however. We would as soon call it a parallelpipedon. The women out there know that the men in the kitchen faucet without bringing politics into their homes, and that every garbage can is a sphere entirely surrounded by politics."

"They have added the three d's to the four c's—every American woman puts clothes with the Kaiser's children, cooking and church—but at home we are looking after the dependants, delinquents and defectors, as women have always done in every century but this."

"In fact, we have a true democracy in Colorado, instead of the bifurcated democracy that you have in New York."

MORE ROOM FOR U. S. COURTS.

Senator O'Gorman to Present Bill for Larger Quarters.

If Congress passes the bill which Senator O'Gorman will present at the opening of the session in December immediate arrangements will be made for renting two large rooms in the Woolworth Building for special parts of the United States District Court for the trial of equity cases exclusively.

Officials will also be leased in the same building to be used as chambers for all the judges of the United States District Court, who are now quartered in the Federal Building, opposite, will be torn out to make space for two additional court rooms there.

The bill provides for an appropriation of $50,000 to be drawn up by the judges in this district and United States District Attorney H. Snowden Marshall, the former law partner of Senator O'Gorman. It is part of the new Federal judiciary plan for catching up with the calendar of criminal cases.

When the General Post Office moves uptown in March another floor in the Federal Building will be needed. The department of Justice, but it will take several months more to convert the acquired space into court rooms. Mr. Marshall thinks that to wait for that would be a waste of a valuable time. He can be used in cleaning up the calendar.

"When I took office there were several hundred old indictments to be tried," said Mr. Marshall yesterday. "This of course was not the fault of my predecessor, Mr. Wise. On the contrary, it was a tribute to his zeal and ability as a prosecutor, but he was hampered by the same thing that we face—lack of court rooms and lack of judges."

"To make up for the latter handicap I had a law passed by Congress on October 2 providing for the designation of Federal Judges from any part of the country to sit in the courts here."

"But now that we have the judges we find that we have no court rooms, so to rectify that error we want to hire additional rooms in some nearby building, preferably the Woolworth Building."

"A number of cases, especially the mail fraud prosecutions, will mean lengthy trials. One will take every bit of two months, but if we are able to put our plan through the state will be ruled clean in a short time, and thereafter we'll endeavor to make a practice of trying prisoners two months after their indictment at the latest."

DENIES TRANSOCEANIC PHONE.

Goldschmidt's Chief Engineer Says No Message Was Received.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 22.—Emile Mayer, chief engineer of the Goldschmidt wireless system in this country, denied today that the station here had received a wireless telephone message from over the Atlantic.

Mr. Mayer was surprised to read in the newspapers this morning that a cable despatch from Berlin said there was communication by wireless telephone between Trenton, New Jersey, and London, and that the station at Trenton had received a message from the Goldschmidt station at Neustadt on the coast of New Jersey, a distance of nearly 4,000 miles.

"It is a mistake," said Mr. Mayer today. "Our station here has had no wireless telephone message from Hanover. We have never had one, but wireless telegraph messages are being sent all the time now. The last one was two days ago. They come three or four times a week and are perfectly transmitted."

The wireless station here of the system founded by Dr. Goldschmidt, a German electrician who formerly was designing electrician in America for the Westinghouse company, has a tower 800 feet high. The station at Neustadt has a similar tower.

There seems to be a mystery in the wireless telephone rumors. It has now been mentioned two occasions that wireless telephone messages came across the Atlantic. Each time it has later been denied.

TURKEYS TO RETAIL

AT 28 CENTS A POUND

This Is a Drop From Last Year.

When the Price Was 30 to 35 Cents.

Many Spoiled by Heat.

New York Will Consume 1,100,000 on Thursday. Wholesale Cost $2,420,000.

Turkey experts say that the great American bird will probably retail at 28 cents a pound on the day before Thanksgiving. This will be a drop from the prices of last year, when Thanksgiving turkeys sold at 30 and 35 cents a pound.

In Washington Market yesterday prices ranged from 25 to 28 cents. But you could pay as high as 35 cents for dry picked Maryland birds if you felt so disposed.

The best turkeys will undoubtedly be found in the retail markets on Wednesday, the best day to pick out your Thanksgiving dinner if you are wise and do not mind getting jammed in a crowd of housewives all anxious to buy tender turkeys. Remember that a flexible breast bone indicates that a turkey probably is tender, although you will have to take your chances on toothsome.

Many of the turkeys which arrived last week suffered from the warm weather and caused the dealers much anguish of mind. Not in years have the receivers of turkeys on a Saturday before Thanksgiving been so disappointed and uncertain as at the close of business yesterday.

Many Turkeys Spoiled. As a rule the great bulk of Thanksgiving turkeys are received and sold on the Saturday preceding the holiday. Weather conditions have been such in and around New York, the greatest consuming center, that not one carload of perfect dry picked turkeys, the choicest of stock, has been received. Fully two-thirds of the dry picked turkeys that came in showed a greenish tinge, indicating decay, which is known in the trade as "struck green." Although shippers packed in dry ice to keep the birds cool, they did not succeed in saving their stock. Every fourth bird in ice showed signs that the animal heat was not out of the carcass when it was shipped.

The Board of Health detailed five extra inspectors to watch the receipt of turkeys and prevent bad stock from being placed on sale. The inspectors instructed receivers to throw "struck green" birds aside and mark them "Health Board" for future inspection and disposal.

The receipts up to Saturday night were the smallest known in many years for the week before Thanksgiving. The quality also was poor, the birds showing more bones than meat.

More Birds Coming To-night. Owing to the prevailing warm weather the principal killing in the turkey sections within twenty-four hours of New York was not done until last Saturday. These birds will get here by express to-night. The bulk of the turkeys from more distant points will not arrive until Tuesday.

Out of town buyers who are in the habit of getting their turkeys on Saturday held off yesterday for the better grades which are expected to-morrow and Tuesday.

Greater New York needs about 1,100,000 dressed turkeys for the ordinary Thanksgiving trade. That means about 1,100,000 pounds. The wholesale cost of New York's Thanksgiving dinner for turkeys alone at an average of 22 cents a pound will therefore be $2,420,000.

Live turkeys are demanded by the Hebrew population. Last season forty solid cars of live birds came in. It is expected that at least fifty cars will arrive on Tuesday. Thus far only a dozen carloads have been received.

Wholesale prices closed yesterday at 18 cents a pound, with the prospect of the price remaining the same tomorrow unless the supply is less than expected.

As this is poultry week and people's thoughts turn to chickens and turkeys, meats have taken a slight drop.

ART LECTURE PLAN EXTENDED.

Board of Education Will Supplement Course on Architecture.

In extension of its plan to educate the adults of the city in appreciation of art by means of public lectures the Board of Education announces that it will supplement the course on "The Architecture of Great Cities," given by Prof. A. D. E. Hamilton of Columbia at Washington High School, 114th street and Seventh avenue, with a series of special lectures on similar topics. Next Wednesday Joseph M. Tilden will lecture on "The History of Architecture as Seen in New York Buildings."

The board will also continue the special course on art now being delivered by Louis Weinberg of the College of the City of New York on "The Art Spirit of the North" at the Public Library, 121 East Fifty-eighth street, on Saturday evening, and by Alexander T. Van Laer, at Cooper Union Third Avenue and Eighth street, on Wednesday.

The lectures for the week follow: Wednesday evening, "Painting in France," fourth of a course on "The History of Painting," by Alexander T. Van Laer, at Cooper Union Third Avenue and Eighth street.

Friday evening, "History of Architecture as Seen in New York City Buildings," Joseph M. Tilden at Washington High School, 114th street and Seventh avenue.

Saturday evening, "London and the Art of the English," third in a course on "The Art Spirit of the North," Louis Weinberg of the College of the City of New York at the Public Library, 121 East Fifty-eighth street.

CHURCHILL WRITES TO MAYOR

Letter Said to Be Defense Against Butler's Criticism.

Thomas W. Churchill, president of the Board of Education, who was the target for an attack by Nicholas Murray Butler and other critics of the present regime in the public schools, has written a letter to Mayor Kline in which, it is said, he takes up in detail the charges that were made against him and presents facts to disprove them. The letter will not be made public until after it reaches the Mayor.

John H. Haaren, Edward B. Shaw and Andrew W. Edson, associate superintendents of schools, were asked yesterday to tell whether in their experience Mr. Churchill and his associates on the present Board of Education had done anything to weaken or to nullify the authority and the responsibility of the professional officers of the school system for the purely scholastic work of the schools, as the Butler letter charged.

The three superintendents said they didn't want to take sides in the contest that is now going on between the friends of Supt. William H. Maxwell and Mr. Churchill, but that they did want to say that they couldn't recall any cases of interference.

NECKLACES of Exquisite Reproduced PEARLS

This set illustrated is a wonderfully clever reproduction of the famous Max Mayer Pearl String valued at $650.00, concerning which there was so much published in the newspapers recently.

It consists of 50 pearls, the largest being about 3 to 4 inch in diameter and graduated in size, of course, to the smallest.

These reproduced pearls are of exquisite Oriental color made to our special order by Topart Freres of Paris. The Rope or String is mounted with a Sterling Silver Clasp, set with a Navette-shaped white stone of excellent quality, made to look like a superb bracelet. $124.00.

Various other beautiful Ropes of Pearls are shown, one, for instance, at $48.50, is a close copy of that above described but not quite so fine in quality, though a most beautiful Necklace.

A wide variety of other Pearl Necklaces at the following prices:

Max's Price Price Elsewhere

$9.89 Pearl Strings, $15.00

$8.49 Pearl Strings, $10.00

$5.89 Pearl Strings, $7.00

$3.49 Pearl Strings, $5.00

$2.49 Pearl Strings, $3.50

At $7.50 there are just two of the famous exorbitant Oriental Pearl Necklaces, which are extremely close in appearance to the real Pearls. The graduating and colorings are exquisite. Mounted with Platinum Clasps.

The occasion for the difference in the price is the difference in the lengths, which range from 18 to 25 inches; the quality, the lustre and color of the Pearls; the mountings, which are platinum and the stone settings of the mountings.
